BOSTON, Nov. 14, 2024—On December 12, the 20th anniversary of the largest conference for women in the nation will be held in Boston, featuring an extraordinary lineup of speakers.

Approximately 10,000 women will attend the sold-out Massachusetts Conference for Women at the Boston Convention & Exhibition Center Center.

The Massachusetts Conference for Women is a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization that provides professional and personal development to women across the Commonwealth. This year's theme is "Power in Unity."

Keynoters include:

- Caitlin Clark, women's basketball legend, in conversation with Robin Roberts, Co-Anchor of Good Morning America and President of Rock'n Robin Productions
- Gail Devers, five-time Olympian in track and field and Thyroid Eye Disease Patient Advocate
- Beverly Johnson, Supermodel, New York Times best-selling Author, Actress, & Businesswoman, in conversation with Lulu Garcia-Navarro.
- Oprah Winfrey in conversation with Gayle King, Co-host of CBS Mornings, Editor-at-Large Oprah Daily.

"As we come together for this 20th anniversary of the nation's largest conference for women, we are celebrating the theme, 'The Power in Unity,'" said Gloria Larson, president of the board of the Massachusetts Conference for Women. "We celebrate the progress we've made together and reaffirm our dedication to a future shaped by our collective voices, actions, and unwavering support for one another."

An A-list of corporations are sponsoring the event, including the presenting sponsor, State Street.

"State Street is honored to support the Massachusetts Conference for Women once again, which continues to be a showcase of the importance of fostering opportunity, inclusion, and leadership across all industries," said Kathy Horgan, chief human resources and citizenship officer at State Street. "We are proud to support a forum that celebrates the power of connection and shared purpose."
